What to expect

① We review your report

Our specialists in the Civil Rights Division carefully read every report to identify civil rights violations, spot trends, and determine if we have authority to help with your report.

② Our specialists determine the next step

We may decide to:

Open an investigation or take some other action within the legal authority of the Justice Department.

Collect more information before we can look into your report.

Recommend another government agency that can properly look into your report. If so, we'll let you know.

In some cases, we may determine that we don't have legal authority to handle your report and will recommend that you seek help from a private lawyer or local legal aid organization.

③ When possible, we will follow up with you

We do our best to let you know about the outcome of our review. However, we may not always be able to provide you with updates because:

We're actively working on an investigation or case related to your report.

We're receiving and actively reviewing many requests at the same time.

If we are able to respond, we will contact you using the contact information you provided in this report. Depending on the type of report, response times can vary. If you need to reach us about your report, please refer to your report number when contacting us. This is how we keep track of your submission.

What you can do next

① Contact local legal aid organizations or a lawyer if you haven't already

Legal aid offices or members of lawyer associations in your state may be able to help you with your issue.

American Bar Association, visit www.americanbar.org/groups/legal_services/flh-home or call (800) 285-2221

Legal Services Corporation (or Legal Aid Offices), to help you find a legal aid lawyer in your area visit www.lsc.gov/find-legal-aid

② Get help immediately if you are in danger

If you reported an incident where you or someone else has experienced or is still experiencing physical harm or violence, or are in immediate danger, please call 911 and contact the police.

Personal description

In your own words, describe what happened

I was shot by a felon with a gun twice who was accompanied by my co-defendant at the time who had warrants out for her arrest at my legal residence. I was unarmed.

I was air lifted to the hospital where I was arrested for Aggravated assault after being deemed stable (about 3 hours).

There was claims that video evidence was uploaded to evidence.com that is non-existent. I asked for copies of reports made to only be denied or received altered reports and after being coerced into a plea deal I asked my 17th court appointed attorney for this case to appeal it only to be denied in writing.

My right to a fair trial has been taken from me and my right to prove my innocence of a false arrest has also been taken by a false investigation of rape being placed on me the same day I was arrested for Aggravated assault although no complaints have ever been filed and no reasonable cause other than to stop me from gaining justice for the wrongdoings done to me.
